THE FUEL OF THE FUTURE.

Gas Stoves for Summer Use

Are rapidly displacing Wood, Coal and Oil for cooking purposes. No bringing of coal nor wood, no ashes, no dust, always ready and PERFECTLY SAFE; meals can be cooked in shorter time, and less ammonia from heat, than by any other method. Where used they have given perfect satisfaction; cost no greater than that of an ordinary wood stove. Ladies who have used them declare that they are indispensable, especially in Summer, and they COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE WITHOUT ONE.

The Gas Company proposes to make a

NET PRICE OF $1.50 PER THOUSAND FEET,

From May 1 to Oct. 1, to ALL PERSONS USING FOR COOKING PURPOSES.
Read the following opinions from well-known ladies who have used Gas Stoves in Decatur:

R. J. STRATTON,
Supl. of Decatur Gaslight and Coke Co.

R. J. STRATTON, Sup't.—Dear Sir: I am using a No. 7 Gas Range, and it is with pleasure that I bear witness to its many good qualities. For utility, cleanliness, comfort and economy, it is all I could desire; anything can be cooked on it that can be cooked on any stove, with, in my opinion, less expense, and certainly with less trouble and more comfort. I cheerfully recommend it.
Yours truly,
MRS. HENRY ELWOOD.

Mrs. R. J. STRATTON, Sup't.—Dear Sir: I want to say to you that the gas stove you furnished to me last Summer is much more satisfactory than I had hoped for. I can do every kind of cooking with it, and the regularity of the heat gives better results than any other stove. I should not desire to keep house without it.
MRS. FRANK H. HALL.

Mrs. R. J. STRATTON, Sup't.—Dear Sir: I have in use one of your Gas Cooking Ranges and as a matter of convenience and comfort it is unsurpassed, and is all you claim for it—gas costing about the same as oil or coal.
Yours respectfully,
MRS. WM. PLUCK.

OUR LITTLE GIRL when but three weeks old broke both her arms. We tried the prescription from several good doctors, but without any special benefit. We tried Dr. S. and by the time she was six months old she had lost the use of both arms and took six bottles to drink by the time she was completely cured. Now she has a full and heavy head of hair—she is a very active little girl. "I never saw you look so sweet before!" Of course not. If I wanted to get a characteristic picture of this man I'd have to set him in a chair and make him tilt the chair back, stick his hands into his trouser pockets, and try to look like a "tough customer." And he said "Let's go, go, gallant." So I set him down at the little table and made him rest his right elbow on a copy of Shakespeare's plays, with his hand gracefully supporting his head. In his lap I placed another book, upon which I rested his left hand carefully. "Now, look up, toward the ceiling," said I, "try to look like a 'tough customer.' " he asked. "If you were looking for a corner in hell," says I, "Oh, I see," says he, and he rolled up his eyes beautifully. "Don't mind the diamond," says he; "I paid a heap for it and wouldn't swap it for the best hotel in town."

"Now the result," continued the professor, "was that I got a splendid negative. The poor patient's daughter was delighted. "Oh, papa, how perfectly lovely!" she cried. "I never saw you look so sweet before!" Of course not. If I wanted to get a characteristic picture of this man I'd have to set him in a chair and make him tilt the chair back, stick his hands into his trouser pockets, and try to look like a "tough customer." That would have been nature. But photographic art is art, and the truly artistic photograph is he who tries to make a unique every time."—Engone Field in Chicago News.

Value of Eggs as Food.

No honest appetite ever rejected an egg in some form or other, and in the most concentrated shape. Whole nations of mankind rarely touch any other animal food. Eggs eat plain as readily as do the humble tradesmen. After the battle of Muhldorf, when Kaiser Ludwig sat at a meal with his burgesses and great captains, he determined on a piece of luxury—an egg each, and two to the side—selected from the Emperor's kitchen. Furthermore than fish—for it is a watery delicacy are the scholar's fare. They contain phosphorus, which is brain food, and sulphur, which performs a variety of functions in the economy. And they are the best of nutriment for children, for in a compact form they contain everything that is necessary to the growth of the youthful frame.

Eggs are, however, not only food—they are medicine also. The white is the most efficacious of remedies for burns, and the oil extracted from the yolk is regarded by the Russians as an almost miraculous salve for cuts, blisters and scratches. A raw egg, if swallowed raw, will effectively heal a sore. A broken egg, when heated in the fire, the whites of eggs will render the deadly corrosive sublimate as harmless as a dose of calomel. They strengthen the consumptive, invigorate the feeble and render the most susceptible all but proof against jaundice in its most malignant phase—Eastern Farmer.

DIMINISH IN A Flash.

When you are on good terms with Diminish in a Flash. His original of thought is only surpassed in originality of expression. Some of his sayings are characteristic. "What do you mean?" he asked me one day, "when you are angry? I don't think you get angry as often as I do." "Bab!" I replied. "Never get angry except at the stupidities of people, never at their whimsies." "Do you think that it is a great sin to have a foolish, aimless, something?" he continued. "It's lucky that you are not in my place, for there would soon not be a whole piece of furniture left in the house." "Do you see the chamber of the Emperor William?" he added, pointing to the bust chisel at Gastein, where that conversation took place. "I was in that temple rage the once. I left the room in a huff, taking the door lock remained in my hand. I went to Lehnendorf's and threw it against a washbow, breaking the bowl into a thousand pieces. 'Are you ill?' said Lehnendorf. 'I was,' I replied, 'but now I am perfectly well!'—Count Beaum's Memoir.

Can't Get Back Again.

By the way, have you ever noticed that it costs a great deal more to go back to Europe than it cost originally to come from America? It is because we have saved up enough to leave Germany and Ireland and other places and come to America, and can't on very large wages save enough to go back. It is funny when you come to think about it that a man who comes to California years ago at a cost of about $70, tells you today he can't afford to go back to the country because it would cost him too much money. America seems to change people a good deal.—San Francisco Chronicle.

DAILY REPUBLICAN.

B. E. HAMSHER & J. B. MORSE, HAMSHER & MOSSER, Prop'trs.
DECATUR, ILLINOIS.
Entered at the Post Office at Decatur, Illinois, second class mail matter.

TUESDAY EVE, APRIL 2, 1889.

CINCINNATI elected a Republican major yesterday.

PRAIRIE HARRISON, it is reported, contemplates a vacation of a couple of weeks, as soon as the senate adjourns, probably to enable the office-seekers to go home and get their spring clothes. He does not want to keep them in Washington all through the summer months in their tight clothing.

COL. FRED. GRANT, the new Minister to Austria, and his wife, were entertained a few days ago by Mr. George W. Childs, to whom good offices the Colonial attache, in a large measure, his appointment.
Russell Harrison was also of the party. Col. Grant expects to sail in about three weeks, and he says it is more than likely that his mother will runke one of his family.

Mrs. PAULINE KING, the colored lady who broke a fast of forty days with a feast at the Springfield, Ill., court house some weeks ago, has announced her ability to turn water into wine. Mrs.
King might obtain lucrative job by applying to the Democratic committee, whose wine fund has been about busted by the distribution of money for the purchase of votes.

The Lower California mining boom has played out and the gold hunters are all coming back disgusted. Every conceivable trick was resorted to in order to deceive the unwary. Some of the fellows would carry gold in their mouths, and when the would-be purchaser was not looking they would spit it into the pan.
When a tenderfoot gold in the group of an old California speculator—a man who has been into everything, from quartz digging to robbing Chinaman, his chance for getting anything out of the trades are very slim, indeed.

A PANAMA has been quoted from the journal of Jane Welsh Carlyle, in which she predicts for "young Richard Pigott," who visited her, "cancer and a fate like that of Hobbesque, and it was generally inferred that the young man, with "bad handsome and fatal looking ruddiness," there referred to was the young son of another. However, another person, the son of Chief Baron Pigott, of the Exchequer Court, and he lived a quiet and uneventful life, having been appointed to an office in India, in which he lived until his death. The other Pigott was an errand boy in Balfour at the time Mrs. Carlyle made her strange prophecy.

WING the chief of a division in the post office, who was requested to resign by Gen. Black a year ago, and was reinstated by Secretary Vilas upon the demand of Senator Voorhees, the latter hardly expected that the next demand would come from a Republican committee backed by a secretary of the same political faith. The deputized official had ordered his electo to "remain in the cupboard" and it was long time before they came to understand that he did not want them to pronounce in the corridors.

The sequel to the murder of John M.
Clayton came on Saturday night. A colored man, Joseph P. Smith, was murdered in cold blood at Plummer'sville that night, near the scene of Clayton's murderation, "because he knew too much." The murderer of the Clayton killing is unmasked, and in the meantime all other murders will be committed, but Mr.
Breckinridge will continue to hold his seat that is stained with blood, and Democrats will continue to call him "honorable" and to insist that he is in no way to blame for the crimes committed in order to make his seat secure.

NOW THAT we have the delegates to the American International Convention appointed, greater attention will be given to the matter of opening direct communication with South America. The St.
Louis Globe-Democrat says: "Eastern merchants are taking steps to bring prominently before the attention of the government the need of a line of steamers between New York and the leading South American ports. At present none are shipped via London, Liverpool, and Copenhagen, and there is no line handling port. It would not only be established but so large a trade up that it would soon be supporting and profitable."

CELESTEANS are now paying postage on a single steamer for carrying American goods to Europe. The cost will amount to quite a sum without a further extra charge.

MR. BLAINE has admitted to a friend, so it is stated, that a man named Captain Harrison is now President of the United States. Mr. Blaine says that when he took charge of the State Department the President handed him a list of names and of appointments to be made, which he signified his wish should be attended to at the proper time. The list, Mr. Blaine remarked, looked as though it had been made up before the President left Indianapolis. The appointments were made, of course, and there is getting to be less and less talk about this being a Blaine administration.

In Chicago, the other day, a letter carrier who "talked too much" inadvertently let the cat out of the bag by telling that there were 30,000 pieces of campaign mail at his sub-station; it would not get out until after the election. The Republicans had suspected that their campaign mail might be tampered with, and to guard against it had taken it to outlying towns and to stations in Indiana to have it mailed, but the Democratic political officials seem to have "got onto" the scheme and stopped the matter in the sub-stations. They are evidently old hands at the business, and know how to get the best of any such simple scheme as that of the Republicans.

"Beauty" may be "only skin deep," but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, plump complexions may, in many cases, be rendered soft, smooth, and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

frequently are, times when the American government is not the proper person to represent the navy on such an important occasion, taking precedence of the admiral and all other naval officers.
Naval officers have felt very much slighted and not a little annoyed at Major Gardner's appointment, and for this reason he was selected by the Senate to disassociate himself from some arrangement by which the disatisfaction might be quieted could not be made. It was generally agreed

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER AT SAMOA.

London, March 21.—Particulars of the disaster to the German and American war vessels at Samoa have been received as follows:—The Eber was blown ashore and struck the reef at an early hour in the morning. She sank almost immediately in deep water. Nearly all of men who were below were drowned. The Adler struck her masts and was shattered and her rigging parted. Several of her crew swam through the surf and were saved, among them the captain and a few officers. After the Nippe grounded, she was succeeded in lowering her boats, and six of them were captured by the capsizing of the boat in the surf. The captain of the Vandala was stunned by being thrown against a gun and was washed overboard before he became conscious. Several others were washed overboard by the waves, while others were drowned in their endeavor to swim ashore. Many of the Vandala's crew clung to the rigging, until the ship sank and others were there tried in vain to rescue them. The bottom of the Vandala was completely gone, and the Trenton was thrown upon the Vandala's wreck. The Ogle withstood the fury of the gale for a day and a night, but the dawn of the following day saw her in a condition of great distress, with the exception of one lost, and with them seventy-six men. The Nippe lost seven men. The Adler lost fifteen men. The Nippe grounded on a sand bank.
